To the FARMER.

SIR,

I AM one of thoſe who think the public greatly obliged to you, for the three uſeful eſſays with which you have already favoured them, through the channel of the ſeveral weekly papers. The importance of the ſubject, and the manner in which you have treated it, cannot but command our attention. You have not, like moſt of our limſy politicians, taken up the looſe, undigeſted principles f the day; and, in the purſuit of your obſervations, ſuf-red yourſelf to be diverted from the purpoſe of informing he minds of your readers, by the ridiculous ambition of leaſing their ears, with the laboured harmony of a po-ſhed period. You have already ſhewn yourſelf perfectly equainted with your ſubject, and, if one may venture to udge of the feelings of the heart from the productions of he head, you are not a little animated by the theme which ou have choſen. Removed as you are from the buſy ſcene f action, ſurely nothing but a natural love of liberty, and n affectionate regard for the intereſt of your country, could ave urged you to ſuch deep reſearches into the nature of ur conſtitution; and have led you to remark, with ſo much reciſion, the regular advances which have been made, from he firſt ſtatutes which were framed for the regulation of our rade, down to the late alarming acts which have paſſed for he diſpoſal of our property, and the reſtraining of our li-erty. Since the firſt cautious attempt of Mr. Dulany to nform the ignorant, and correct the prejudiced, the public as not been favoured with any one eſſay, in which there as been ſo much argument, and ſo little declamation. I ave been a dabler in politics myſelf, but my Enquiries have en looſe and deſultory. Yours appear to be generouſly igned for the uſe of your country. The knowledge hich you have acquired, muſt have coſt you no ſmall ſhare f time and labour. You cannot devote it to a nobler pur-oſe—"All mankind's concern is"—liberty—Proceed then, y dear Sir, to compleat the taſk you have undertaken. Make us acquainted with the rights of freemen; and point ut to us thoſe pernicious attempts which may tend to their violation—Teach us how to diſtinguiſh between the gene-ous glow of liberty, and the furious rage of licentiouſneſs —furniſh us with ſuch inſtruction as may enable us to diſ-over the difference between the legal exerciſe of delegated ower, and the arbitrary exertion of unlimited authority. ou will, I dare ſay, very readily admit the neceſſity of odging a reſtraining power in ſome part of the political ody; but, at the ſame time, you will as reaſonably remark, hat this power is only to be exerted in limiting and regula-ing the trade and manufactures of each particular part, in uch a manner as may moſt effectually promote the general ood of the whole community. Thoſe who are beſt ac-uainted with our complicated ſyſtem, moſt eaſily diſcover he neceſſity of placing this power ſomewhere. Suppoſe it hould be conceded to the parliament of Great-Britain; no one, in his ſenſes, could ſuppoſe it to be granted, but with he ſame reſervations which we have ever annexed to the moſt extenſive prerogatives of the crown. "Ne quid detri-menti reſpublica capiat," is the tenure of this delegated ower in whatever part of the community it may be veſted. The King has an indiſputed right to uſe a diſcretionary power n proroguing and diſſolving the parliament; but whenever his prerogative may be exerciſed to the ruin of the nation, I hope we ſhall not want a Pym or a Hampden to reduce it within its natural bounds. The idea of unlimited power is inconſiſtent with the genius of liberty, and we may as ſafely concede it to one as to five hundred; for what eſſential dif-ference could be perceived by the inhabitants of New-York, if they had been arbitrarily ſtripped of their legiſlative power, by the ſingle exerſion of the royal prerogative, and not by the ſolemn formality of one oppreſſive act, ſubſcribed by the whole Britiſh parliament.

Happy would it be for a people who anxiouſly cultivate the growth of liberty, if any refinement in political know-ledge could enable them to frame laws, ſo applicable and equal to every emergency, as to remove the neceſſity of lodging a diſcretionary power in the breaſt of any individual: But ſince the imperfection of human wiſdom will not admit of ſuch a refinement, we can only exert our utmoſt endea-vours, in every delegation of our natural power, to guard, by the moſt prudent reſervations, every ſuch conceſſion from thoſe ill conſequences, which may poſſibly follow an arbitrary exertion of this neceſſary, yet dangerous authority. From you, Sir, we may now very reaſonably expect (as your abilities appear quite equal to the taſk) that you will kindly communicate to us that intelligence which we ſo much require. Our future happineſs and tranquility, in a great meaſure, depend upon our being able to determine, with the moſt exact, political preciſion, the conſtitutional extent of parliamentary power—upon our having ſufficient information to diſcover when thoſe, who have arrogated to themſelves this diſputed authority, are framing a reaſonable regulation, or meditating an act of oppreſſive reſtraint. The light which you have already thrown upon a ſubject ſo important and intereſting to every coloniſt, flatters me with a hope, that in the continuation of your eſſays, you will teach us to make thoſe diſtinctions, without which we can neither reaſon properly, nor act conſiſtently. As you have already raiſed our expectations, it is become a duty in you to gratify them; and if any thing ſhould diſcourage you from proſecuting the taſk you have undertaken, you will very deſervedly meet with the reproaches of the public, as well as thoſe of

Your very humble ſervant,

Dec. 14, 1767. A CITIZEN.

From the PENNSYLVANIA JOURNAL, December 24, 1767.

LETTERS from a FARMER in PENNSYLVANIA to the Inhabitants of the BRITISH COLONIES.

LETTER IV.

Beloved Countrymen,

AN objection, I hear, has been made againſt what I offered in my ſecond letter, which I would willingly clear up before I proceed. "There is," ſay theſe objectors, "a material difference between the Stamp-Act, and the late Act for laying a duty on paper, &c. that juſtifies the conduct of thoſe who oppoſed the former, and yet are willing to ſubmit to the latter. The duties impoſed by the Stamp-Act were internal taxes, but the preſent are external, and therefore the parliament may have a right to impoſe them."

To this I anſwer, with a total denial of the power of parliament to lay upon theſe colonies any "Tax whatever."

This point, being ſo important to this and ſucceeding generations, I wiſh to be clearly underſtood.

To the word "Tax" I annex that meaning which the conſtitution and hiſtory of England require to be annexed to it; that is—that it is an impoſition on the ſubject for the ſole purpoſe of levying money.

In the early ages of our monarchy, certain ſervices were rendered to the crown for the general good. Theſe were perſonal *; but in proceſs of time, ſuch inſtitutions being found inconvenient, gifts and grants of their own property were made by the people, under the ſeveral names of aids, tallages, taſks, taxes and ſubſidies. Theſe were made, as may be collected even from the names, for public ſervice upon "Need and † neceſſity." All theſe ſums were levied upon the people by virtue of their voluntary ‡ gift. Their deſign was to ſupport the national honour and intereſt. Some of thoſe grants comprehended duties ariſing from trade; being impoſts on merchandizes. Theſe lord chief juſtice Coke claſſes under "ſubſidies," and "parliamentary aids." They are alſo called "cuſtoms." But whatever the name was, they were always conſidered as gifts of the people to the crown, to be employed for publick uſes.

Commerce was at a low ebb, and ſurprizing inſtances might be produced how little it was attended to for a ſucceſſion of ages. The terms that have been mentioned, and among the reſt, that of "Tax," had obtained a national parliamentary meaning, drawn from the principles of the conſtitution, long before any Engliſhman thought of regulations of trade by the impoſition of duties.

Whenever we ſpeak of "Taxes" among Engliſhmen, let us therefore ſpeak of them with reference to the intentions with which, and the principles on which they have been eſtabliſhed. This will give certainty to our expreſſion, and ſafety to our conduct; but if, when we have in view the liberty of theſe colonies, and the influence of taxes laid without our conſent, we proceed in any other courſe, we purſue a ‖ Juno indeed, but ſhall only catch a cloud.

In the national, parliamentary ſenſe inſiſted on, the word "Tax" § was certainly underſtood by the congreſs at New-York, whoſe reſolves may be ſaid to form the American "bill of rigths."

The third, fourth, fifth and ſixth reſolves are thus expreſt.

III. "That it is inſeparably eſſential to the freedom of a people, and the undoubted right of Engliſhmen, that NO TAX be impoſed on them, but with their own conſent, given perſonally, or by their repreſentatives."

IV. "That the people of the colonies are not, and, from their local circumſtances, cannot be repreſented in the houſe of commons in Great-Britain."

V. "That the only repreſentatives of the people of the colonies are the perſons choſen therein by themſelves; and that NO TAXES ever have been, or can be conſtitutionally impoſed on them, but by their reſpective legiſlatures.

VI. "That ALL ſupplies to the crown being free gifts of the people, it is unreaſonable and inconſiſtent with the principles and ſpirit of the Britiſh conſtitution, for the people of Great-Britain to grant to his majeſty, the property of the colonies."

Here is no diſtinction made between internal and external taxes. It is evident from the ſhort reaſoning thrown into theſe reſolves, that every impoſition "to grant to his majeſty the property of the colonies," was thought a tax; and that every ſuch impoſition, if laid any other way, but "with their conſent given perſonally, or by their repreſentatives," was not only "unreaſonable and inconſiſtent with the principles and ſpirit of the Britiſh conſtitution," but deſtructive "to the freedom of a people."

This language is clear and important. A "Tax" means an impoſition to raiſe money. Such perſons therefore as ſpeak of internal and external "Taxes," I pray may pardon me, if I object to that expreſſion, as applied to the privileges and intereſt of theſe colonies. There may be internal and external IMPOSITIONS, founded on different principles, and having different tendencies; every "Tax" being an impoſition, though every impoſition is not a "Tax." But all taxes are founded on the ſame principle; and have the ſame tendency.

External impoſitions, for the regulation of our trade, do not "grant to his majeſty the property of the colonies." They only prevent the colonies acquiring property, in things not neceſſary, in a manner judged to be injurious to the welfare of the whole empire. But the laſt ſtatute reſpecting us, "grants to his majeſty the property of the colonies," by laying duties on the manufactures of Great-Britain which they MUST take, and which ſhe ſettled on them, on purpoſe that they SHOULD take.

What ¶ Tax can be more internal than this? Here is money drawn without their conſent from a Society, who have conſtantly enjoyed a conſtitutional mode of raiſing all money

* It is very worthy of Remark, how watchful our wiſe Anceſtors were, leaſt their ſervices ſhould be encreaſed, beyond what the law allowed. No man was bound to go out of the realm to ſerve the King. Therefore even in the conquering reign of Henry the 5th, when the martial ſpirit of the nation was highly inflamed by the heroic courage of their prince, and by his great ſucceſs, they ſtill carefully guarded againſt the eſtabliſhment of illegal ſervices. "When this point (ſays Lord Chief Juſtice Coke) concerning maintenance of wars out of England came in queſtion, the COMMONS did make their continual claim of their ancient freedom and birthright as in the 1ſt of Henry the 5th, and in the 7th of Henry 5th, &c. the COMMONS made a PROTEST that they were not bound to the maintenances of war in Scotland, Ireland, Calice, France, Normandy, or other foreign parts, and cauſed their PROTESTS to be entered into the parliament rolls, where they yet remain; which in effect agreeth with that, which upon like occaſion was made in this parliament of 25th Ed. 1." 2*d Inſt. Page* 528.

† 4*th Inſt.* 28.

‡ Reges Angliæ, nihil tale, niſi convocatis primis ordinibus, et aſſentiente populo ſuſcipiunt. Phil. Comines.

Theſe gifts entirely depending on the pleaſure of the donors, were proportioned to the abilities of the ſeveral ranks of people who gave, and were regulated by their opinion of the public neceſſities. Thus Edward 1*ſt, had in his* 11*th year a* thirtieth from the Laity, a twentieth from the clergy; in his 22*d year a* tenth from the Laity, a ſixth from London, and other corporate towns, half of their benefices from the clergy; in his 23*d year an* eleventh from the Barons and others, a tenth from the clergy, a ſeventh from the burgeſſes, &c. Hume's hiſtory of England.

The ſame difference in the grants of the ſeveral ranks is obſervable in other reigns.

In the famous ſtatute de Tallagios non concedendo, the King enumerates the ſeveral claſſes, without whoſe conſent, he and his heirs never ſhould ſet or levy any tax——"Nullum Tallagium, vell auxillium per nos, vel hæredes noſtros in regno noſtro ponatur ſeu levetur, ſine voluntate et aſſenſu archiepiſcoporum, epiſcoporum, comitum, baronum, militum, burgenſium, et aliorum liberorum com. de regno noſtro." 34 Edward I.

Lord Chief Juſtice Coke in his comment on theſe words ſays—"For the quieting of the Commons, and for a perpetual and conſtant law for ever after both in this AND OTHER LIKE CASES, this act was made." Theſe words are plain WITHOUT ANY SCRUPLE, abſolute WITHOUT ANY SAVING." 2*d* Coke's Inſt. Page 532, 533. Little did the venerable Judge imagine that "Other LIKE caſes" would happen, in which the ſpirit of this law would be deſpiſed by Engliſhmen, the poſterity of thoſe who made it.

‖ The Goddeſs of Empires in the Heathen mythology, according to an ancient fable, Ixion purſues her, but ſhe eſcaped in a cloud.

§ In this ſenſe Monteſqueir uſes the word "Tax" in his 13*th Book of Spirit of Laws.*

¶ It ſeems to be evident, that Mr. Pitt, in his Defence of America during the debate concerning the repeal of Stamp-Act, by "internal taxes" meant any duties "For the purpoſe of raiſing a revenue;" and by "external taxes" meant "Duties impoſed for the regulation of trade." His expreſſions are theſe—"If the gentleman does not underſtand the difference between internal and external taxes, I cannot help it; but there is a plain diſtinction between taxes levied FOR THE PURPOSES OF RAISING A REVENUE, and duties impoſed FOR THE REGULATION OF TRADE, for the accommodation of the ſubject; although in the conſequences, ſome revenue might incidentally ariſe from the latter."

Theſe words were in Mr. Pitt's reply to Mr. Greenville, who ſaid he could not underſtand the difference between external and internal taxes. But Mr. Pitt in his firſt ſpeech has made no ſuch diſtinction; and his meaning when he mentions the diſtinction appears to be—that by "external taxes" he intended impoſitions for the purpoſe of regulating the intercourſe of the colonies with others; and by "internal taxes" he intended impoſitions for the purpoſe of taking money from them.

In every other part of his ſpeeches on that occaſion, his words confirm this conſtitution of his expreſſions. The following extracts will ſhew how poſitive and general were his aſſertions of our right.

"It is my opinion that this kingdom has NO RIGHT to lay A TAX upon the colonies."—The Americans are the SONS, not the BASTARDS of England. TAXATION is NO PART of the governing or legiſlative power.—"The TAXES are a voluntary gift and grant of the commons ALONE. In LEGISLATION the THREE eſtates of the realm are ALIKE concerned, but the concurrence of the PEERS and the CROWN to a TAX, is only neceſſary to ſhew with the FORM of a law, the GIFT and GRANT is of the COMMONS ALONE."——"The Diſtinction between LEGISLATION and TAXATION is eſſentially neceſſary to Liberty."——The COMMONS of America, repreſented in their ſeveral aſſemblies, have ever been in poſſeſſion of the exerciſe of this, their conſtitutional right, of GIVING and GRANTING their OWN MONEY. They would have been SLAVES if they had not enjoyed it."—The idea of a virtual repreſentation of America in this houſe, is the moſt contemptible idea that ever entered into the head of man.—It does not deſerve a ſerious refutation."

He afterwards ſhews the unreaſonableneſs of Great-Britain taxing America, thus—"When I had the honour of among themselves: The payment of this Tax they have no possible method of avoiding; as they cannot do without the commodities on which it is laid, and they cannot manufacture these commodities themselves. Besides, if this unhappy country should be so lucky, as to elude this act, by getting parchment enough in the place of paper, or by reviving the ancient method of writing on wax and bark, and by inventing something to serve instead of glass, her ingenuity would stand her in little stead; for then the parliament would have nothing to do, but to prohibit such manufactures, or to lay a TAX on hats and woollen cloaths, which they have already prohibited the colonies from supplying each other with; or on instruments and tools of steel and iron, which they have prohibited the provincials from manufacturing at all: And then what little gold and silver they have must be torn from their hands, or they will not be able in a short time to get an ax † for cutting their firewood, nor a plough for raising their food. In what respect therefore, I beg leave to ask, is the late act preferable to the Stamp-act, or more consistent with the Liberties of the colonies? For my own Part, "I regard them both with equal apprehension; and think they ought to be in the same manner opposed."

"Habemus quidem senatus consultum,—tanquam gladium in vaginia repositum.

"We have a statute laid up for future use, like a sword in the scabbard." A FARMER.

serving his Majesty, I availed myself of the means of information, which I derived from my office; I SPEAK THEREFORE FROM KNOWLEDGE. My materials were good. I was at pains to collect, to digest, to consider them, and I will be bold to affirm, that the profit to Great-Britain, from the Trade of the colonies, through all its branches, is TWO MILLIONS A YEAR. This is the fund that carried you triumphantly through the last war; the estates that were rented at two thousand pounds a year, threescore years ago, are at three thousand pounds at present. Those estates sold then from fifteen to eighteen years purchase; the same may now be sold for thirty. YOU OWE THIS TO AMERICA. THIS IS THE PRICE THAT AMERICA PAYS YOU FOR HER PROTECTION."——"I dare not say how much higher these profits may be augmented."—"Upon the whole, I will beg leave to tell the House what is really my opinion. It is that the Stamp-act be repealed absolutely, totally, and immediately. That the reason for the repeal be assigned, because it was founded on an ERRONEOUS PRINCIPLE.

* And that Pig and Bar Iron made in his Majesty's colonies in America may be FURTHER MANUFACTURED IN THIS KINGDOM, be it further then enacted by the authority aforesaid, that from and after the twenty fourth day of June 1750, no Mill or other Engine for slitting or rolling of Iron, or any plating Forge to work with a tilt hammer, or any furnace for making Steel shall be erected, or after such erection continued IN ANY OF HIS MAJESTY'S COLONIES IN AMERICA. 23 Geo. 2. Ch. 29. Sect. 9.

† Tho' these particulars are mentioned as being absolutely necessary, yet perhaps they are not more so, than glass in our severe Winters, to keep out the cold from our houses; or than paper, without which such inexpressible confusions must ensue.

CHARLES-TOWN, JANUARY 26.

HIS Majesty's Packet the Grenville, Captain Siddall, sailed from St. Christophers the 14th of December, for Jamaica, and may be daily expected here.

On Wednesday the Twelfth Instant, at the Anniversary Meeting of the CHARLES-TOWN LIBRARY SOCIETY, his Excellency the Right Honourable Lord CHARLES-GREVILLE MONTAGU, was elected President of the said Society; Henry Laurens, Esq; Vice-President; Mr. Robert Philp, Treasurer; Mr. John Colcock, Secretary and Correspondent; Thomas Evance, Esq; Steward; Mr. William Carwithen, Librarian; and Mr. James Fletcher, of London, Bookseller. All the Officers were re-elected except the Secretary, in the Room of William Mason, Esq; who declined.

On Tuesday the 5th Instant, at the WINYAW RACES near GEORGE-TOWN, the following Horses, &c. started, carrying Weight for Age, and came in as follows, viz.

Thomas Lynch, Esqr's, roan Horse Havana, six Years old, got by Brutus,	1	1
William Moultrie, Esqr's, grey Filley, rising four, got by Starling,	2	2
Mr. Alston's bay Horse Crocus, aged,	distanced.
Daniel Horry, Esqr's, chesnut Horse Sprightly, bred in England, aged, Robert Weaver, Esqr's, bay Colt, bred in Virginia, rising four,

At Starting, the Betts were even Money, Havana against the Field; and some Money was laid, Sprightly against the Filly. And,

On Wednesday the 6th Instant, only two started for the Colt's Plate, viz.

Mr. William Alston's Colt, got by Cade, rising five Years old (won hollow)	1	1
Thomas Lynch, Esqr's, bay Colt Hotspur, rising four Years old,	2	2

At Starting One Thousand Pounds to One Hundred Pounds were offered, Hotspur against the Cade Colt; but as the Odds were so high, few Betts were then made.

It is to be observed, in order that Hotspur should be mounted with a favourite Rider, he was obliged to carry 24lb. more than the Weight mentioned in the Articles; but as the Cade Colt won the first Heat so easy, the Owner of Hotspur thought it needful to get a proper Weight to ride for the second; such an Alteration in Weight naturally changed the Minds of some Persons, and even Money was then betted: But this Grandson of the renowned old Cade maintained his Superiority, and won the second Heat also with ease, against Hotspur, full Brother to the invincible Noble, got by Brutus, a Son of Regulus, who was a Son of the Godolphin Arabian.

We are informed that the Cade Colt runs at New-Market at the Races which begin there on the first Tuesday in February next, and that great Sport is expected.

On Tuesday the 19th Instant, at the STRAWBERRY RACES, the following rising four Years old, started and came in as follows, viz.

Mr. James Ravenell's Filley,	1	1
Capt Harlston's Colt,	dist.
Mr. John Harlston's Colt,
Mr. Paul Maryck's Colt, Starling,

And on Wednesday 20th Instant, the following three Years old started, and came in as follows, viz.

Daniel Horry, Esqr's, Filly Cherry,	1	1
Mr. Frierson's Colt,	2	2
Mr. Daniel Ravenell, junior's, Colt,	3	3
Mr. Daniel Ravenell's Filly,	distanced.

A Match is made between John Gibbes, Esqr's, Horse Centinel, bred by the Duke of Ancaster, and Morton Wilkinson, Esqr's, Horse Noble, bred by Thomas Lynch, Esq; and mentioned above, to run at New-Market the last Thursday in March next, for One Thousand Pounds, play or pay, half forfeit, the best of three four Mile Heats; Centinel to carry ten Stone, and Noble nine Stone.

Last Wednesday died, Mr. William Guerin, Merchant.—And about a Fortnight ago in Christ-Church Parish, Mr. Thomas Bennett, a Native of this Province, aged Eighty-one, and who had lived upwards of Sixty Years in the said Parish, where he has left a Brother several Years older than himself.

☞ No material Alteration in the Price Current.

A Parcel of good Parchment Skins, to be ſold by Charles Crouch.

among themselves: The payment of this Tax they have no poſſible method of avoiding; as they cannot do without the commodities on which it is laid, and they cannot manufacture theſe commodities themſelves. Beſides, if this unhappy country ſhould be ſo lucky, as to elude this act, by getting parchment enough in the place of paper, or by reviving the ancient method of writing on wax and bark, and by inventing ſomething to ſerve inſtead of glaſs, her ingenuity would ſtand her in little ſtead; for then the parliament would have nothing to do, but to prohibit ſuch manufactures, or to lay a tax on hats and woollen cloaths, which they have already prohibited the colonies from ſupplying each other with; or on inſtruments and tools of ſteel and iron, which they have prohibited the provincials from manufacturing at all: And then what little gold and ſilver they have muſt be torn from their hands, or they will not be able in a ſhort time to get an ax † for cutting their firewood, nor a plough for raiſing their food. In what reſpect therefore, I beg leave to aſk, is the late act preferable to the Stamp-act, or more conſiſtent with the Liberties of the colonies? For my own Part, "I regard them both with equal apprehenſion; and think they ought to be in the ſame manner oppoſed."

"Habemus quidem ſenatus conſultum,—tanquam gladiam in vaginia repoſitum.

"We have a ſtatute laid up for future uſe, like a ſword in the ſcabbard." A FARMER.

ſerving his Majeſty, I availed myſelf of the means of information, which I derived from my office; I SPEAK THEREFORE FROM KNOWLEDGE. My materials were good. I was at pains to collect, to digeſt, to conſider them, and I will be bold to affirm, that the profit to Great-Britain, from the Trade of the colonies, through all its branches, is TWO MILLIONS A YEAR. This is the fund that carried you triumphantly through the laſt war; the eſtates that were rented at two thouſand pounds a year, threeſcore years ago, are at three thouſand pounds at preſent. Theſe eſtates ſold then from fifteen to eighteen years purchaſe; the ſame may now be ſold for thirty. YOU OWE THIS TO AMERICA. THIS IS THE PRICE THAT AMERICA PAYS YOU FOR HER PROTECTION."——"I dare not ſay how much higher theſe profits may be augmented."—"Upon the whole, I will beg leave to tell the Houſe what is really my opinion. It is that the Stamp-act be repealed abſolutely, totally, and immediately. That the reaſon for the repeal be aſſigned, becauſe it was founded on an ERRONEOUS PRINCIPLE.

* And that Pig and Bar Iron made in his Majeſty's colonies in America may be FURTHER MANUFACTURED IN THIS KINGDOM, be it further then enacted by the authority aforeſaid, that from and after the twenty fourth day of June 1750, no Mill or other Engine for ſlitting or rolling of Iron, or any plating Forge to work with a tilt hammer, or any furnace for making Steel ſhall be erected, or after ſuch erection continued IN ANY OF HIS MAJESTY'S COLONIES IN AMERICA. 23 Geo. 2. Ch. 29. Sect. 9.

† Tho' theſe particulars are mentioned as being abſolutely neceſſary, yet perhaps they are not more ſo, than glaſs in our ſevere Winters, to keep out the cold from our houſes; or than paper, without which ſuch inexpreſſible confuſions muſt enſue.

CHARLES-TOWN, JANUARY 26.

HIS Majeſty's Packet the Grenville, Captain Siddall, ſailed from St. Chriſtophers the 14th of December, for Jamaica, and may be daily expected here.

On Wedneſday the Twelfth Inſtant, at the Anniverſary Meeting of the CHARLES-TOWN LIBRARY SOCIETY, his Excellency the Right Honourable Lord CHARLES-GREVILLE MONTAGU, was elected Preſident of the ſaid Society; Henry Laurens, Eſq; Vice-Preſident; Mr. Robert Philp, Treaſurer; Mr. John Colcock, Secretary and Correſpondent; Thomas Evance, Eſq; Steward; Mr. William Carwithen, Librarian; and Mr. James Fletcher, of London, Bookſeller. All the Officers were re-elected except the Secretary, in the Room of William Maſon, Eſq; who declined.

At Starting One Thouſand Pounds to One Hundred Pounds were offered, Hotſpur againſt the Cade Colt; but as the Odds were ſo high, few Betts were then made.

It is to be obſerved, in order that Hotſpur ſhould be mounted with a favourite Rider, he was obliged to carry 24lb. more than the Weight mentioned in the Articles; but as the Cade Colt won the firſt Heat ſo eaſy, the Owner of Hotſpur thought it needful to get a proper Weight to ride for the ſecond; ſuch an Alteration in Weight naturally changed the Minds of ſome Perſons, and even Money was then betted: But this Grandſon of the renowned old Cade maintained his Superiority, and won the ſecond Heat alſo with eaſe, againſt Hotſpur, full Brother to the invincible Noble, got by Brutus, a Son of Regulus, who was a Son of the Godolphin Arabian.

We are informed that the Cade Colt runs at New-Market at the Races which begin there on the firſt Tueſday in February next, and that great Sport is expected.
